Lutheran Homes Launches New Program: Be Well Home Services – Compassionate Service at Your Doorstep

Columbia, S.C. --- Lutheran Homes of South Carolina, a trusted care provider throughout the state, is pleased to announce Be Well Home Services, a new at-home service for the Midlands. Be Well Home Services provides non-medical care to people needing assistance to accomplish everyday tasks. This new program builds upon the mission of Lutheran Homes of South Carolina while addressing the need for a complete continuum of services for Midlands residents.

Trained staff members who are bonded and insured offer a helping hand to anyone needing assistance, including older adults and people recovering from illness or injury. The experienced staff can take care of many tasks – transportation, laundry, yard work, personal hygiene, meal preparation and more. Because Be Well Home Services offers this type of service, many individuals are able to live more comfortably and independently at home.

Melissa Yetter, Administrator of Be Well Home Services, explains, “Be Well Home Services is the only non-profit, faith-based, in-home supportive service in the Midlands. There’s a real need for assistance with everyday tasks. We give them the support to maintain their lifestyle at home. This new program is a wonderful addition and complement to the continuum of care and services of Lutheran Homes of South Carolina.”

About Lutheran Homes: For over 100 years, Lutheran Homes of South Carolina has been providing quality care and services for older adults. Lutheran Homes, a non-profit organization provides five full-service continuing care retirement communities and hospice programs, including Rice Home, Lowman Home and Lutheran Hospice in the Midlands. The staff at Be Well Home Services and Lutheran Homes is dedicated to assuring that persons of all faiths and beliefs can be well and live life to its fullest.
